Weather report

The centre of low pressure moved away to the east on the night of Friday 22nd June, leaving the Solent with a light west to west north westerly wind. For the start of the race, there was around 8-10 knots (force 3), feeling a little stronger as the westerly tide increased the apparent wind. By the time most yachts reached the Needles Channel, the wind had backed to south of west making it a beat all the way.

Between the Needles and St Catherines the wind generally died to under 10 knots, increasing near the headland. Reports from St Catherines showed a steady westerly wind of 10-15 knots through the morning before backing to the SW and increasing in the afternoon. In the Eastern Solent, the wind varied between SW and W and increased to 15-20 knots (force 4 to 5), with an occasional stronger gust as a rainsquall blew through. In the lee of the Island, there were areas of lighter wind close to the shore. This gave an interesting time tacking for home trying to cheat the tide but stay in the wind.

Showers were mainly confined to the mainland and Solent, with a rumble of thunder heard over Portsmouth. There were long sunny intervals in the morning and south of the island, although most competitors saw some rain showers in the Eastern Solent. The squalls blew through pretty quickly with a strong gust on the leading edge.
